Canadians of good will and they make up the great proportion of our population) are deeply shocked at the new information disclosed by the final report of the Royal Commission on official secrets which has been commonly called the "spy inquiry".

Paragraph three of the Commission's recommendations outlines the startling facts in the case, the most serious can best be stated in the words of the report:

"Par. III. We also report the following facts:

1. There exists in Canada a fifth column organized and directed by Russian agents in Canada and in Russia.
2. Within the fifth column there are several spy rings.
3. We have been able to identify many of the members of one of these rings.

Friends of Russia and friends of world peace might well direct their efforts now to breaking down the "iron curtain" that the Russian government maintains and which actively promotes hatred and fear between its people and the peoples of the world who do not accept their brand of socialism.

All spy rings in the Russian fifth column must be rooted out if peace is to be maintained and confidence restored.

A booklet giving the full text of the Commission's report can be obtained from your member of Parliament as soon as it can be printed.

A FREE PRESS

Brenden Bracken, wartime minister of information in Great Britain, has accused the Labor government there of threatening the British press because of its criticism of the government's actions on various matters.

Mr. Morrison, the acting leader of the government, defended his "press of investigation" by using the usual socialist technique of charging that the press was "monopolistic". Mr. Morrison refused to allow an investigation into the British Broadcasting Corporation which controls a large part of the British radio and is controlled by the Labor government.

The government of Russia consistently repels all criticism of its actions by shouting charges of "fascism", "capitalism" and "war mongering" at the critics. To see this line line is disturbing to all who believe in freedom.

Mutual understanding and peace will only come to the peoples of the world as freedom is given, particularly to the press and radio, to report conditions and events as they seem. A free people can be trusted to sift the true from the false and government control of the press is not only unnecessary but extremely dangerous.

Canada's free press is one of her greatest assets and in no other field do we find more unselfish devotion to the cause of Canadian welfare.

FACTS ABOUT CANADA

It is difficult to understand why certain public men continue to disparage Canada and everything that Canadians do. All the evidence seems to show that they are wrong when they insist that people of other countries do things better. The charge of inefficiency is often unfairly made against government employees. Here are a few facts that give Canadians reason for pride in their country.

- (1) Canada's Civil Service represents 1.54 per thousand of population, compared with 2.52 for the United States and 1.53 for the British government service.
- (2) Production of peace time goods is at an all-time high.
- (3) Employment figures show 629,000 more people at work than in 1920, more than ever before.
- (4) Production, employment and national income are all at the highest levels ever recorded for peace time.
- (5) Savings have tripled since 1939 and reach an all time peak.
- (6) Individual disposable income from 160 million to 62 million and Canada's foreign debt has dropped 400 million.
- (7) The rate of cuts in taxes are

WEDDINGS

BOGSITE-WATTS

A quiet wedding was solemnized in Central United Church Sunday, Calgary, at five o'clock July 16th, when Ivy Marion, youngest daughter of Mrs. E. C. Watts of Nanaka, became the bride of Gordon Orville Bogsite, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Bogsite of Gleichen. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert Dalgleish.

The bride wore a light blue suit with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses and Star of Bethlehem. After a short honeymoon spent in Calgary and Banff Mrs. and Mr. Bogsite have returned to Gleichen where they will make their home.

BROWN-BELL

A very pretty double ring ceremony took place at the Prophetic Bible Institute with Rev. Lang officiating, when Betsy Isabelle Bell became the bride of Arthur Brown of Ansonwood. She was given away by her father George E. Bell, M.L.A. of Gleichen.

The bride looked very sweet in her ivory satin gown and wore a veil held in place with tiny rosebuds. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and lilies. The bridesmaid was her cousin, Miss Georgina McPhee who was attired in pink lace and her bouquet was of carnations and white delphiniums. Don Smythe of Gleichen was best man. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold heart shaped locket and the groom received a slide set and pin.

During the ceremony Miss Sarah Mcullen sang "Bless This House". After the ceremony the bride and groom gathered in the Sky Room for the reception. Eighty guests sat down to toast the bride. Gordon Dunn was master of ceremonies. Don Smythe proposed the toast to the happy couple and which the groom responded. The happy couple left to spend the honeymoon in Banff.

The bride chose for her going away a white jersey dress, brown top coat with brown and white accessories. On their return they will reside in Calgary.

The World at The Crossroads

A ONE MINUTE EDITORIAL

(By Rev. W. E. Sieber.)

What will evolve from the efforts of the statesmen of the Victor Nations in struggling with the problems affecting the future of all the peoples of the world?

That depends on this: Are these people fundamentally the product of creating conditions for peace? Or, are they basically concerned with the spoils of war to be taken from the vanquished nations in the form of colonies, territories and cities; industrial equipment, forced labor, overlordship which aims at exploitation of resources—both human, industrial and scientific discoveries. Will those thinly veiled aims coupled with the avowed strangulation of their international trade produce conditions for a safe and lasting peace? Or will they merely build up a group of modern slave nations together with a tremendous reservoir of ill will?

The answer given to these questions hold the answer of lasting peace or World War III, because they will either undo mankind, or build a deeper chasm of hatred, suspicion, resentment and bitterness that must lead to another war of revenge.

Thus upon the answers which the forthcoming "peace conference" will give to these questions hangs the whole future existence of mankind in this Atomic Age of ours.

U.F.W.A Meeting

Mrs. R. Umbrite was hostess to the ladies of the U.F.W.A. last Thursday afternoon. As usual the meeting was opened with a song and the roll call was answered by Early Reminiscences of My Grandmother and was answered by 17 members and four visitors. A letter was read from the Cancer Control Board and offered to give the organization a lecture and slides whenever it was convenient. This will be given in the Meadowbrook hall some evening in the near future and the public will be invited to attend.

Mrs. D. Sammons was welcomed as a new member. Mrs. M. Yule won the quilt. The members were sorry to learn that Mrs. W. Yule had her baby in the Basano hospital owing to illness.

As this was Grand Mothers Day Mrs. McKeever put on the following program—

Song—The Rosary—dedicated to Mrs. A. Wilson by Mrs. McArthur. Song—Moonlight and Roses—dedicated to Mrs. Hutchison and Mrs. Umbrite by Mrs. Quennell and Mrs. R. Burns.

Poem—Grandmothers—by Loretta McKeever. Song—The Second Minute—dedicated to Mrs. H. Sammons. Mrs. D. Sammons gave two readings for Grandmothers which were much enjoyed. Mrs. Umbrite on behalf of Grandmothers Day thanked Mrs. McKeever and helpers for the lovely program. Each grandmother received a corsage of flowers and their special table was centered with flowers and single food cake, etc. After a delicious lunch and a grand afternoon of recreation the meeting adjourned to meet again on August 2nd at the home of Mrs. G. Yule, Sr.

Mrs. Lee Brunstetter and little girl of Moose Jaw, Sask., arrived in town to visit her sister Mrs. G. H. Anderson for a couple of weeks.

HERE AND THERE

This week the home economist says: Everybody knows today that no food is more important than vegetables. Nutritionists recommend at least one raw and two cooked vegetables every day. And with up to date information and serving suggestions this rule is not hard to follow. Now nearly everyone enjoys vegetables. A vegetable plate may be a picture. That is the right sort of vegetable plate may be, but it takes some artistic ability as well as knowledge of cooking. No one would be tempted with a dinner of potatoes, white turnips and canned corn, or spinach, green beans and peas; but carrots, green beans, new potatoes and a few slices of raw tomato or lettuce attracts the eye as well as the palate. If one wishes to depart from the all-vegetable idea, a poached egg may be added or a cheese or other pleasant sauce may glamorize one of the vegetables. The entire meal at luncheon a vegetable plate with hot rolls is always welcome whether it be of hot vegetables or a crisp cold salad.

So far electrically-driven cars have only been used as small delivery vans because the weight of the accumulators only permitted low speeds. It has been long known that the weight of Britain's leading motor manufacturers working with an electrical engineering firm, has been carrying out secret experiments with an electric car and that these experiments have been crowned with success. The new car is capable of 50 miles per hour. Up to the present the weight of the batteries in lead plates has been the main handicap in the development of electric cars. After years of research work it has now been found possible to use magnesium which is much lighter.

This week has been proclaimed Alberta Farm Safety Week by His Honor the Lieutenant Governor. This proclamation gave official recognition to the seriousness of the farm accident situation in Alberta. Realizing that the skill and labor of the farmer of Alberta are vital factors in the production of food required to assist in feeding the nations of the world it is obvious that anything that might be done to preserve the safety of our farm people should be implemented.

At the time often we read in the daily papers of some farm accident in which a person is either killed or seriously injured. Upon analyzing the details involved very often the

This constitutes an unnecessary waste of human life as well as time and material. For the purpose of reducing this loss in Alberta this educational campaign is being conducted, and to further emphasize the necessity of preventing accidents on farms that Farm Safety Week was named.

Cost Of A Health Plan

THE QUESTION OF A DOMINION-WIDE PLAN of health insurance and free hospitalization for everyone is frequently discussed. The desirability of putting adequate medical care, and hospitalization when necessary, within the reach of all citizens regardless of their financial status, cannot be questioned, and in most communities today there is provision for the care of those who are unable to pay the usual costs of illness. There are also group health insurance and hospitalization projects, but as yet no such step has been undertaken on a national scale. In other parts of the Empire and notably in New Zealand, extensive health and hospitalization insurance and other benefits of this kind have been in effect for some time. Recently sweeping measures of this nature have been introduced in Britain in a National Health Bill which attracted much attention on this continent.

Basic Needs Are Outlined

At the recent meeting of the Canadian Medical Association held at Banff, the question of health insurance and free hospitalization project. Enormous sums were raised by taxation to finance the war, and many people may feel, and rightly so, that the national health has as great a claim on the public finances as war. However, the Canadian Medical Association can be commended for placing before the people a survey of the wide implications of the nationalization of health services.

Need For Many New Hospitals

In connection with hospitalization it was pointed out that present services would have to be expanded to include not only general hospitals but also special hospitals such as tuberculosis sanatoria, mental, children's and convalescent hospitals. Dr. Harvey Agnew, of Toronto, an expert on hospital construction, said that the country's requirements for new hospital buildings would amount to $250,000,000. One of the main points which were stressed throughout the discussions was that the public should be made fully aware of the financial responsibility of the government, and therefore of the taxpayer, in any national health insurance and free hospitalization project.

Helicopter Squadron United States Navy Will Use For Air-Sea Rescues

The U.S. Navy Department has commissioned its first helicopter squadron, consisting of 17 such craft, to be based at the Naval Air Station, Ford Bennett Field, New York City. The squadron will be largely equipped with Sikorsky HO4S helicopters, and the progress already made by the United States coast guard in use of helicopters for air-sea rescues and other purposes.

The helicopters will be placed on fast vessels that do not carry any aircraft, where they can perform their shipboard and ship-to-ship liaison for the delivery of mail, personnel and material. They will thus eliminate the use of destroyers for many minor deliveries to larger vessels, involving hazardous and time-consuming maneuvering to come alongside.

They will be installed also on some battleships to supplement the conventional observation and scouting aircraft carried on them and other large ships.

NEW KIND OF CONCRETE

British scientists are trying to develop a concrete which will "age naturally". One speaker said that in London's grimy atmosphere, few buildings "survive" from the point of good appearance, beyond 10 years after construction.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q—Have any of the unnumbered coupons which have been stamped on them, issued to members of the armed forces, been declared invalid? A—No, the unnumbered coupons with a beaver stamped on them remain valid. Therefore, they may be used to purchase rationed foods whether or not the person to whom they were issued has been discharged from the service.

Q—I have been trying to purchase a second-hand car but find that most car dealers demand that you have a car to trade in on the purchase. Can a dealer refuse to sell an automobile unless the buyer has a car to be traded in? A—No.

A—Any dealer must sell a used car to any person who offers cash and may not demand an exchange or trade-in of any kind.

Q—I am planning on spending my vacation at a summer hotel. I will be there for three weeks and would like to know if it will be necessary for me to turn in my ration book to the hotel manager.

A—For a visit of two weeks or more at any hotel, ration books must be surrendered to the hotel manager.

Q—Has the price of milk been increased in restaurants? A—No.

A—Restaurant and café proprietors may not increase the price charged for milk served by the glass or with meals. Some restaurant owners apparently had the impression that they could raise the price when the milk subsidy was cancelled and the price of milk was therefore increased to the consumer. The milk subsidy regulation did not however, affect the restaurant trade.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumer News" or "Our Blue Book" in which you keep track of your selling prices, mentioning the name of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

Norwegian Farmer Found He Could Plow With Fishing Boat
Norwegians in the western fjord districts have long combined fishing and agriculture with admirable success. It was not until recently, however, that this combination reached the ultimate with a report that a certain fjord farmer had succeeded in plowing his field with a fishing boat. Now, plowing with electricity is a fairly common practice in these districts where the fields are steep and the cost of electricity low, but replacing a horse with a boat had never before been tried. This particular farmer living on the Kila Fjord in Summerville had a field close to the fjord's edge. It was a comparatively simple matter to rig up a system of cables and blocks, back his motor boat up to the shore, and then hook on and plow away. The weather was calm, and the boat pulled out from shore showing a furrow in the top of the field. With a long cable and a pulley at the far end of the field, the plowman had only to signal to his "going horse" and another furrow was plowed. The farmer is a subject of much conversation in his district.

Saravak In Borneo Has Become British Crown Colony

Saravak, rich and romantic Borneo kingdom of the white rajahs, recently became a British crown colony. The King issued a statement saying, "I extend a warm welcome to the people of Saravak and pledging Britain to 'promote your welfare and to bring Saravak to a higher stage of social and economic development than has hitherto been possible'."

Christopher Mulvey, Minister of the Malayan Civil Service, was appointed chief secretary of Saravak pending appointment of a governor.

Saravak, North Borneo state with 500,000 inhabitants and 300,000 acres of rubber plantations, was ceded to Britain by its last white rajah, 71-year-old Sir Charles Vyner, in an agreement whereby he and his three daughters received some local officials receive the proceeds of a $4,000,000 trust fund established from Saravak funds.

Blind Musicians Invent Machine By Which He Copies Notes

Delegates to the convention of the Canadian Federation of Music Teachers' associations heard how a man's desire to write music overcame his blindness. The musician—Auguste Liessens of Sorel, Que.—invented a machine which enables him to write a line of music more quickly than the average person.

Mr. Liessens conceived the idea one day when his wife, who usually gives his music for him, was absent. A plumber had a piece of leather and he traced them upon a musical staff. The inventor's first version of the device consists of a frame for holding the paper and a series of keys which can be used to copy any conceivable set of notes.

Liquor And Crime

Prelude To Recent Crimes Has Been A Drinking Party

One inescapable fact has emerged from the recent plethora of violent crime in Winnipeg and the neighboring communities, and that is that liquor has played in leading up to robberies, unaccountable stabbings and murders.

The prelude to recent crimes of violence often has been a drinking party, not a quiet drink for sociability's sake but a first-class binge which became violent or lost track of events. A room studded with empty bottles became the setting for a crime.

Drink or sex too often got into the picture some place. This condition must have impressed itself on the public generally, and the consequent mitigating effect on the community should lead to a re-examination of individual habits—Winnipeg Tribune.

THERE'S a mighty interesting story behind the recent incarceration of Judge Davidson Fraser in a lunatic asylum.

Daily newspaper readers may freshen their memories and recall that just prior to the learned judge going "raving mad," his only son was found shot "by the unknown." Or at least that's the verdict the coroner brought in. And most of our citizens realize that the shock of the death of his son resulted in the judge's insanity.

Now I can give you the real low-down behind the whole affair. And, believe me, the tale is a stranger than fiction.

Judge Davidson Fraser was the supreme dispenser of justice in his thriving western home. On this particular evening, the judge had just come into his home and found a note awaiting him. Unfolding the paper he read it carefully, then out of him gurgled a sort of a devilish laugh. Knowing the judge as I did, that's the way I can describe his laugh. And truly devilish it was.

"Dear Judge Fraser," it said. "Kindly accept our sincerest thanks for your verdict in today's court. You disobeyed our warning and saw fit to sentence to death a man you knew to be innocent. Therefore, dear Judge, we now sentence you. We work in an unusual way and we do unusual things. You will find cause to remember us for the balance of your life. We hold an appointment with you during the next twenty-four hours!"

The letter was unsigned, and the judge laughed when he had finished it. That's a funny habit a judge may have. He may laugh while we groan. However, it's a letter we were talking about. It was the first threatening letter Judge Fraser had received during his varied career. Always anonymous, but most times he could almost guess their source.

Sometimes they had a sequel, but mostly they meant nothing.

"This one?" Well, this was different. The man he had sent to hang was innocent, though that's a story for another day.

an assassin in the draw. Thanks to his old army officer, Twite, who had taught him the fine points of marksmanship.

If you could have been in that study that night you would have seen Judge Fraser just sitting there, comfortable, and staring into nothingness, while the firelight gleamed over his ruddy face, in which there was no dread.

But an hour later, we still find Judge Fraser in that same position. He had not moved. But a lot of things were coursing through that nimble mind. Fear and remorse. He forced his thoughts to centre around his chief interest in life—his son, Jim. The boy, who was showing him a lot of man he might have been. The boy who had thrown over the study of law against his father's wishes and turned to aviation instead. Aviation had its risks, but then, so did law or any other work. He ought to know. Tomorrow Jim would be back home from the war. It would be good to see him again and he wished Jim's mother was still alive to share his pride in his son.

So, sorry folks, we have to add yet another hour or so. Time is some of us have a long time to catch up with it.

Judge Fraser had dozed off into the realms of a mildly subconscious state. Grogginess visions of lurking, shadowy figures flitted through his mind. His imagination was running away with him, and he suddenly shook himself awake and sat up. He felt cold, and a damp sweat soaked out on his forehead. "What a dream! Or was it only dream and the haunting eyes of a condemned man?"

He swung to his feet and switched off the lights. He looked at the radium dial of his watch. It was just midnight. His hand closed about the automatic. His fingers toying with the trigger, he snuck back into the chair. Why not call the police, and have a guard posted and go off to bed? He felt sleepy. Yes, that was what he was going to do. He was weary he hadn't done it earlier.

Judge Fraser stood up and yawned. Suddenly his heavy form stiffened. His feet felt numb. A harsh, terrible clatter coming from an outer door, opening in ominous silence. Then the handle of the study door turned, a shadow fell across the threshold by the faint glow from the fireplace, the judge could just make out the form—it seemed like the spirit of doom.

His automatic spat fire. A streak of flame—a moment of silence—a choking cry—and the shadow lurched and fell outstretched on the floor. The judge smiled. It was a neat shot. He switched on the lights, rushed to the phone and called the police. Then he turned to the figure.

"The dead man was lying face downward. Avoiding a pool of blood, the judge showed the body over his foot.

"God in Heaven," shrieked the judge, and a maniacal cry started the crowd on the corner.

The cold glared eyes that stared up at the judge were those of his son, Jim!

Too Fearsome

Atomic Energy Should Be Used For Man's Peaceful Use

This thing that dread Hiroshima, that ravaged Nagasaki and burst so spectacularly over Bikini Lagoon is too fearsome to be met by anything less than the highest civic courage and social wisdom that man can summon to his aid. The world cannot live in terror of the force that came in Hiroshima unannounced, that it should be known that the world at Bikini is in a state of tension, that communicated its strength for evil to the millions who listened to the test explosion. It must be bent to exact peaceful use, chains by universal resolve—or man will utterly exist, henceforth on the edge of annihilation.—New York Herald Tribune.

The letter was unsigned, and the judge laughed when he had finished it. That's a funny habit a judge may have. He may laugh while we groan. However, it's a letter we were talking about. It was the first threatening letter Judge Fraser had received during his varied career.

Always anonymous, but most times he could almost guess their source. Sometimes they had a sequel, but mostly they meant nothing.

"This one?" Well, this was different. The man he had sent to hang was innocent, though that's a story for another day.

Unconsciously he tore the letter into shreds and watched them disappear in the fireplace. The judge's hand patting the little automatic lying snugly in the pocket of his gown, and his eyes glistened. Yet, he could still shoot. More than once his life had been saved by his ability to beat

A HIGH BRIDGE

Joining Norway And Sweden, Said To Be The Highest In Europe

The bridge joining Norway and Sweden 200 feet above the Svin Sund, south of Fredrikshald, which was opened by King Haakon of Norway and the Crown Prince of Sweden, is the highest in Europe.

The construction of the bridge, which is 1,260 feet long with one span of 485 feet, was begun in 1930 and was almost completed by Swedish engineers in 1942, when the German occupation forces were already established on the Norwegian side. The bridge was the scene of dramatic and fatal attempts to escape from Norway during the war.

In 1942 lightning exploded a mine on the Swedish side, destroying the second arch, and the restoration was postponed until the end of the war. After eight months' work the bridge, a majestic engineering achievement, which now re-establishes the main western Scandinavian motor route, was completed, costing more than 3,000,000 Swedish kroner—London Times.

SAVES MAN FROM LAKE—When he failed to appear on the surface of Gull Lake, Ont., after diving from a rowboat, John A. Meyer, Toronto, was rescued by 18-year-old Patricia Snel, also of Toronto, seen here. She plunged into the lake and located Meyer below the surface. "After the dive," said Meyer, "I kept going down. I don't remember Miss Snel bringing me up. She saved my life."

Fight Dope Ring

Says People Of Britain Are Not Free To Use Of Narcotics

LONDON.—Despite seven years of war and austerity, Britons generally have abstained from opium smoking and use of narcotics. Maj. W. H. Cole, Britain's representative on the United Nations Narcotics Commission, said in disclosing points of his own commission brief.

Britain, forced after the First Great War to fight a dope ring of country-wide proportions, is one of the countries least troubled by dope addiction.

The Englishman—no matter how great his worries may be—is not prone to narcotics even if he can get them, said Maj. Cole.

Authors' Association

Western Writers Well Represented At The Convention

The recent convention of the Canadian Authors' Association in Toronto marking its 25th year of existence was the most successful every way, as there were upwards of 200 attending.

The retiring President, Roderick Stuart Kennedy of Montreal, editor of Family Herald & Weekly Star, well known to many of our readers and has passed his authority into capable hands.

Among these interesting people who can call upon what they feel, see and hear and who have imagination enough to write fiction, poetry, etc., we noticed that the West was well represented as reported by William Arthur Deacon (the new Association President) and Literary Editor of the Globe and Mail, Toronto.

Earle Birney, poet of Vancouver, Kathleen Strange, of Winnipeg, biographer; W. G. Hardy of Edmonton, novelist (yes, it is the hockey man!); Ross Annet, of Consort, Alberta, who wrote his stories to the "Saturday Evening Post," were among some of the Western names noted—there are many other writers of the West doing good work and finding ready markets for their stories.

World Food Shortage

Britain Feels That She Should Help Starving Nations

Until the last few weeks people in Britain have tended to take for granted, as something normal, the world shortage of food. A letter from the Prime Minister to the head of every local authority in the country brings home the truth to the individual citizen. It is the duty to save food and to grow food to the utmost extent, to help the world survive, in Mr. Atlee's words, "one of the greatest food crises in history." There is a natural tendency, when we have made so many sacrifices, to feel that if anyone goes hungry it should be not our own people, but some stranger—and for preference those who were our enemies. But they are in fact already hungry. And many of them starving. In the absence of further efforts by the countries which have food, millions of men, women and children will starve to death as surely as men, women and children starved to death in concentration camps—Daily Telegraph and Morning Post (London).

Still Being Paid Smart Young Thing

Indians Receiving Money Owed By Government For Their Land

Indians still are being paid for the lands they surrendered by treaty with the white man. A G. Leslie, trusts division official of the Indian affairs branch, told the parliamentary committee on Indian affairs. The funds, paid annually by the government, were not given as largesse or humanitarian purposes, but as instalments owed the Indians for their land.

He said that more than 80 per cent. of the trust fund which totals $117,055,480 belonged to individual Indians belonging to Canada. The richest was the Blackfoot tribe, whose 1,000 members had $27,351,203 in capital and revenue funds. But the band with the greatest per capita wealth was the Doka of the Sturgeon agency. The 240 Doka had more than $658,000 in their funds.

"That sounds incredible," said the other.

"Well," continued the first man, "this is how I did it. I took the car on a trial and drove it to another garage, and asked him to buy it."

LEITHBRIDGE EXPERIMENTAL STATION

FALL CULTIVATION AND THE CONTROL OF ANNUAL WEEDS

The two main hazards to production of dry land grain crops are weather and weeds. The farmer has little control over the weather but by proper fall methods he can prevent soil drifting and store up moisture for the crop years. The weed problem is sometimes more difficult to combat, and the steps taken must not interfere with the methods used to prevent soil drifting.

Three troublesome weeds of southern Alberta are stinkweed, tumbling mustard and Russian thistle. Stinkweed is more prevalent on heavier soils, Russian thistle is present on the lighter soils, and tumbling mustard causes concern on both the heavy and light soils.

One or two after harvest cultivations will be advantageous in controlling stink weed but should only be considered if a good percentage of trash cover can be maintained. A first cultivation will allow weeds to germinate, to be killed by a second cultivation will help to start more weeds, and the resulting plants may be killed by cultivation the following spring.

Tumbling mustard generally behaves as a winter annual and the practices outlined for stinkweed may prove worth while for tumbling mustard.

In the case of fall sown crops such as winter wheat and fall rye, these two annuals stinkweed and tumbling mustard will continue to be troublesome if the crops are seeded on badly infested land. The use of some selective weed killer in the early spring may be the only real salvation and some promising treatments are being developed.

Russian thistle is an annual plant and when growing in crops usually does not set seed until after the crop has been harvested. This peculiar feature makes it possible to control the weed after harvest cultivation. Cultivation should follow the combine as soon as possible, the sooner the better. In this regard germination tests made on seed collected from after harvest cultivated land have shown the amount of viable seed reduced from 75 to 100 percent. One large operator has been using after harvest cultivation for Russian thistle control for several years, and now

SEEDTIME HARVEST

Line Elevator Farm Service, Winnipeg, Man.
Conducted by
Dr. R. F. PETERSON
Canadian Cereals Laboratory of Cereal Breeding,
WINDYBROOK, MANITOBA.

Redman, a new hard red spring wheat bred for the rust area of Western Canada (Manitoba and Eastern Saskatchewan), was developed from the cross Regent x Canus made at the Dominion Laboratory of Cereal Breeding, Winnipeg, which is a part of the Cereal Division of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. This Division is now increasing seed of Redman for later distribution.

The main wheats at present grown in the rust area are Regent and Thatcher. Regent is resistant to stem rust and bunt or stinking smut, and moderately resistant to leaf rust, loose smut, black chaff and root rot; but does not possess enough resistance to give high yields under conditions of prolonged heat or drought. Thatcher is resistant to stem rust, loose smut, black chaff and root rot; susceptible to leaf rust and bunt, and possesses considerable drought resistance.

Redman is resistant to stem rust, black chaff and root rot, and is somewhat more resistant than Regent to leaf rust, loose smut, root rot and drought.

The new variety, Redman, is much like Regent in general appearance and height, but is somewhat more rugged, with stronger straw. It is less subject to breaking straw and shattering of grain than Regent, and is expected to be a satisfactory variety for the rust area. Redman matures about one day later than Regent, and one day earlier than Thatcher.

In field tests conducted in Manitoba and Eastern Saskatchewan in 1945, 1946 and 1947, Redman outyielded both Regent and Thatcher. Further work is being done to determine what more resistant than Regent but less than Thatcher.

Redman has high milling and baking quality and will be graded equal to Marquis.
